CASE STUDY

Work it

"The Great Plains Communications local team has helped tremendously through the process from when we first started to where we are now. Technology plays a huge part at Nest:Space, and we wouldn't be able to operate if it wasn't for Great Plains Communications."

COMPANY OVERVIEW

Nest:Space is a hybrid, community-focused office space for teams, freelancers, remote employees, entrepreneurs and more.

Located in Downtown Kearney, NE — which combines historical roots with modern revitalization — Nest:Space is all about community. The 24/7 space offers a flexible and supportive environment in which to work peacefully, meet with others comfortably or host events and gatherings.

Nest:Space is equipped with everything individuals or teams need to get things done:

- » Super-Fast Fiber Internet
- » Reservable Conference Room
- » Collaborative Community
- » Kitchen Area
- » 24-Hour Access and Security
- » Open Meeting Areas
- » Shared MFP Printer
- » Mail Service

Options include memberships for local businesspeople wanting to work there for months or years as well as day passes for those passing through town on work trips. To meet different requirements, Nest:Space has a hot desk area, private desks and private offices for individuals or small teams. The impressive conference room is ideal for client and team meetings, interviews and training sessions.

Nest:Space is locally founded, and its ownership and management team is small but mighty. (There are four owners and one manager.) Community Manager Brian Valdovinos has a diverse role focusing on day-to-day operations including giving tours, answering emails and phone calls and making sure members have the most productive workday possible each day they're at Nest:Space.

"We absolutely need a fast and consistent Wi-Fi connection at Nest:Space, and we get that from Great Plains Communications. Issues rarely happen, but if they do, we can easily contact the Great Plains Communications team, and they're always quick to respond and get things squared away and fixed," Valdovinos said.

He added, "Even when we just need to reach out with questions, Great Plains Communications gets answers back to us promptly. That lowers our stress level."

Nest:Space is aggressively working to expand its number of active members. When it does, the Great Plains Communications fiber network will be ready with increased bandwidth and other communications technology.

Valdovinos notes, "That local support takes a lot of weight off our backs."

"As we gain more members, bandwidth will need to grow, and we are aiming high when we speak of member potential. Knowing that Great Plains Communications will be there along the way just gives us peace of mind."
